

WASHINGTON BEAT

By the Herald Tribune Washington Staff

CPYRIGHT

Donovan in Capital

New York lawyer James B. Donovan slipped into Washington unobserved yesterday to talk of officials here about his efforts to free 1,113 prisoners in Castro's jails who are survivors of the Bay of Pigs invasion of April, 1961. President Kennedy reportedly wants to try to get the men home by Christmas.